

THE HOUSE

I've been thinking mainly of a living room plan . An open space where our friends can gather around a coffee table, which would be the typical setting for mate & friends. But it also true, mate often takes place in the kitchen. So I think an open kitchen configuration could be just as interesting, adding complexity and depth to the background.

We can always dress our spaces to taste, as I am thinking of warm colors and interesting modern combinations that give our film a vibe that is both put together yet a bit trendy.
