HABLARA...

HELLO!

JAVI PALLEIRO HERE,

Director at Oriental Films, super excited to have crossed paths with you again! Thank you very much for the invite to develop this project together. I really like funny films. I like both silliness and the technicalities -how everything has to be just the perfect fit in order to get a laugh, and then when it happens... oh my is it worth it. And I especially appreciate Corega's approach to this otherwise touchy subject. I agree that laughing it off is the smartest way to go, as it levels with the audience, letting them know the brand truly understands what they're going through.
